Dear Parents and Carers,

We are pleased to announce that after a very successful Science Week last year, during the week beginning Monday 17th June 2019 Barkisland will be hosting another Science week. This will be our annual Open Week this year. During the week, children will be considering how to be future scientists, exploring the big issues which will be facing our world when they are older.

They will also be exploring lots of different Scientific concepts and topics and will be taking part in lots of different activities, including plenty of practicals! It will be very active and lots of fun!

To aid us with these exciting activities, it would be very helpful if each child could bring to school for Monday 17th June:

- A 500ml plastic bottle with lid (Again, any extras would be wonderful).
- Any junk plastic and cardboard which would usually be recycled. If this needs to be brought in early this can be stored in the cupboard. Please can plastics be rinsed clean of left-overs and could everything come from nut free sources. The more, the better.

Thank you in advance for any contributions to our resources. We are all looking forward to the really exciting activities we've got coming our way.

As our Science Week is also our Open Week, we will be inviting parents and relatives in to participate in sessions with us across the week. These will be taking place during the first lesson or the last lesson of a day to coincide with picking up and dropping off children. A timetable of activities and family slots for each year group will be coming out on Wednesday 12th June, with more information to follow.

Kind regards,

Mr M Elliott
